Standard Product Training Assumptions:

- The purpose of the class is to introduce client SME’s and/or system administrators with core concepts, functionality and artifacts necessary to participate in the project and support the solution post go-live.
- Ranzal assumes no more than 5 students participating in the onsite course to educate on key product functionality.
- Content and training environment is pre-packaged and not customized toward client’s future state solution.
- Client is responsible for supplying environment, PCMCS demo application (“BikesML30”) and provisioning students and trainer as administrators for access at time of training delivery. The training application is packaged with each PCMCS pod subscription.
- Client is responsible for supplying links to students and trainer to access PCMCS via web browser and Smartview Excel.
- Ranzal assumes client will provide access to training/conference room facilities, network connectivity and tools (i.e. projector, whiteboard).
